A WORD TO SMOKERS

We are striving to give our customers good cigars for their money. Of course, there are as many different tastes as there are people. As a consequence, we are forced to carry many different brands. Now we have chosen for the smoker who likes Domestic Cigars—

G. M. C. Special and "Black and White." We have chosen for the Havana smoker, "Norma Martinez," and it is an excellent piece of goods, just as good as the average 10c cigar.

And last of all we have chosen "Gwin & Mays Reputation" for the blended goods. Gentlemen this is the line of cigars for you to try out. Let us hear from you. Buy a quarter's worth of either and if you are not satisfied we refund the money.

COURT UPHOLDS GUTHRIE CHARTER

IMPORTANT BEARING ON ALL OKLAHOMA TOWNS THAT HAVE ADOPTED CHARTERS.

Oklahoma City, March 13.—The Oklahoma Supreme court Tuesday reversed its former decision in the Guthrie charter case, putting the charter officers back into office at Guthrie and removing the cloud which had hung over the official acts of practically every charter city in Oklahoma.

The decision was given in the case commissioner of public safety under the charter, to compel W. H. Mitchell, chief of police under the old regime, to turn over his office. A writ of mandamus was granted in the District court at Guthrie, but on appeal the case was reversed in an opinion by Justice Hayes holding the election at which the charter was adopted illegal because it had been called by the mayor and not by the council as provided in the statute.

The attorneys for the charter officers at Guthrie then filed a petition for rehearing, in which they were joined by the city attorneys of El Reno, Bartlesville, and other cities where a similar condition existed. The opinion handed down Tuesday grants the rehearing, withdraws the former opinion and affirms the judgment of the lower court. It is written by Justice Williams, Chief Justice Turner and Justice Dunn concurring. Justice Hayes, who wrote the former opinion, and Justice Kane dissent.

The court now holds that after the charter had been adopted by the voters and approved by the governor, technical irregularities cannot be raised in proceedings of this sort. The syllabus reads in part:

"A charter framed by a city of more than 2,000 inhabitants, prepared by a board of freeholders, adopted by the qualified voters and approved by the governor, the invalidity of such charter on alleged fail-

PHILLIPS BILL FILED TODAY

ABOUT 23,000 SIGNATURES TO INITIATE PETITION MOVING STATE UNIVERSITY.

This morning J. W. Hays returned from Oklahoma City, where he was present yesterday at a meeting of representatives from a number of Oklahoma towns relative to the filing of the Phillips bill, the measure which was initiated with the design of drawing the teeth of the Aiken bill. Mr. Hays stated that the Phillips bill has about 23,000 signatures and will be filed today, this being the last day for filing it. The Aiken bill has some little time yet, and will in all probability be filed in ample time.

The Phillips bill moves the State university from Norman to Stillwater and consolidates it with the A. & M. college, converting the present site of the university into an insane asylum, abolishing the Edmund Normal and putting in its place the school for the blind, now located at Fort Gibson.

ure to comply with sections 3a and 3b of Article 18 of the constitution cannot be raised in a mandamus proceeding brought by one of the officers holding prima facie evidence of title from a municipal election pursuant to the powers of such charter against one of the officers holding under the old charter to recover the belongings of such office."

The decision in the Guthrie case does not affect directly the suits that have been filed in the District court attacking the validity of the Oklahoma City charter further than to establish a precedent upon which may be hypothesized the assumption that this city's charter will withstand whatever attacks have, or may be, instituted against it.

There are two suits pending in the District court here attacking the charter form of government. A suit was filed by William Ribbo in which he attacked the validity of the elec-

Thinks Oats Are Safe.

F. F. Ferguson, district agricultural agent, was in town this morning on business. He stated that he thinks all oats planted deep are safe and were not affected by the late freezes. Mr. Ferguson also advises farmers to exercise great care in the selection of the cotton seed they plant this season. It is his opinion that real economy is found in planting the best seed, no matter what they cost.

PRISONERS WORKING COUNTY ROADS

This morning a squad of fourteen county prisoners was taken out on the Bebee and Maxwell road and put to work. The prisoners will probably work that road for about six weeks.

The squad is in charge of Constable Joe Foster, who did eight months of excellent work with prisoners last year, and who handled the men in a highly satisfactory manner. Under his direction the road will probably take on a different look in a short time.

SAID SHE WOULD FAINT

Mrs. Della Long Unable to Stand On Her Feet More Than a Few Minutes at a Time.

Pondergrass, Ga.—Mrs. Della Long, of this place, in a recent letter, says: "For five or six years, I suffered agonies with womanly troubles.

Often, I couldn't sit up more than a few minutes at a time, and if I stood on my feet long, I would faint.

I took Cardui, and it helped me immediately. Now, I can do my work all the time, and don't suffer like I did."

Take Cardui when you feel ill in any way—weak, tired, miserable, or under the weather. Cardui is a strength-building tonic medicine for women.

It has been found to relieve pain and distress caused by womanly troubles, and is an excellent medicine to have on hand at all times.

Cardui acts on the womanly constitution, building up womanly strength, toning up the nerves, and regulating the womanly organs.

Its half century of success is due to merit. It has done good to thousands. Will you try it? It may be just what you need. Ask your druggist about Cardui. He will recommend it.

ADA'S WATER SUPPLY ATTRACTING ATTENTION

That the folders telling of Ada's water supply, recently published by the News, are attracting some attention among the recipients, is shown by the following letter received from W. R. Thomas, president of the Columbia Electrical Co., of St. Joseph, Mo., by F. E. Bowman, manager of the Ada Electric and Gas Co.:

"We have received in a recent mail circular bearing on Ada's water supply, written by Consulting Engineer, Mr. Goodwin.

"We have read this with much interest and passed it on to others in our office. We appreciate your sending it, and hope some time, to avail ourselves of some of the comforts of your fast growing city."

Most of today has been occupied with the trial of the damage suit of Mattie E. Morton against the O. C. railroad. It will probably be finished late in the afternoon.

STONEWALL-FRISCO ROAD WILL BE WORKED

Thursday will be an eventful day in the history of Stonewall and vicinity, and perhaps of Pontotoc county in general. The citizens of that section have agreed to close up other lines of business and every man able to do any work whatever, will be on hand ready to do his part. Fully 150 teams and 40 scrapers are expected to take part in the work.

The road to be improved is the stretch between Stonewall and Frisco. It is thought that it can be put in good shape in one day, and on April 10 it is planned to work the road from Stonewall to Jesse. As a regular picnic is planned out for both occasions, and dinner served on the ground by the ladies, the road working will doubtless prove popular move, and other places will soon be following the example.

NAVAJO RESERVATION THROWN OPEN FOR SETTLEMENT

Mobart, Okla., March 13.—The last "opening" of Oklahoma lands under the "horse race" plan, which took place Monday, when the Navajo Indian reservation was released for settlement by white men, did not prove as spectacular as those of the early days of Oklahoma.

All of the 240 farms in the Navajo irrigation reservation were subject to entry Monday and the filings will be permitted at the Guthrie land office April 10.

The land lies 14 miles south of here, and while a few men from Mobart made the race, W. W. Carlton, Harry Kessinger, Fred and Lester Nance, were the ones successful in locating on quarters, and they found the old custom of staking claims in vogue, with signs showing the date and hour the entrymen settled on the tracts.

The land was withheld from original entry for an irrigation project, which later proved to be impracticable.

GOOD RECORD MADE BY DISTRICT COURT

The past term of the District court resulted very satisfactory for the state. County Attorney Wimbish and Deputy Dean were very zealous throughout the term, and, as a result, secured six convictions and six pleas of guilty. There were two acquittals and one mis-trial.

Judge McKeown and Sheriff Mitchell and his force have also performed the duties of their respective places with all diligence. In fact, Pontotoc county is extremely fortunate in having the men who fill these offices. Of these, Mr. Wimbish has been on the ground the longest, and although he has had some very knotty cases to handle, he has sent to the penitentiary some of the worst characters in the state, thereby making this a much more desirable place to live in.

Robert Wimbish left this morning for Oklahoma City, where, tomorrow, he will argue the famous mandamus suit before the Supreme court. On the determination of this suit depends the financial status of many counties in Oklahoma. If the decision of the District court is sustained, about $15,000 in back warrants will be issued by the commissioners of Pontotoc county without delay.

The boilers for the ice factory have arrived and are being put into place. Four cars of machinery of one sort and another arrived yesterday, and as a result Manager Frick has more business just now than a cranberry merchant. Meantime the plant looks about like a cyclone had struck it, but will take on a different appearance as the work progresses.

The Man on the Box.
On Tuesday, March 19, at City Hall opera house, theatre goers of this city will have an opportunity to see the dramatization of Harold McGrath's popular novel, "The Man on the Box," which was made for Henry E. Dixey, and in which he starred for two very successful seasons.

The cast of the special company presenting the play here is headed by Bert Leigh, a young American actor who has been connected with several Broadway productions in past seasons.

Mr. Leigh and his supporting company play the comedy with just the right proportion of exaggeration and elegance to make an evening's entertainment of delicious foolery. Under their touch it seems the most natural thing in the world for a perfectly sane young gentleman to attempt a practical joke by playing coachman and to bring up in the police court because he had mounted to the wrong box; and quite the natural consequence for the young lady, to the box of whose carriage he had mounted, to pay his fine and to hire him for the coachman he pretends to be, that she may find out at her leisure who he really is.

The play will be presented with special settings, with no detail of stage production slighted, and the presentation is truly one of the good theatrical happenings of the present season.

The highest point of woman's happiness is reached only through motherhood, in the clasping of her child within her arms. Yet the mother-to-be is often fearful of nature's ordeal and shrinks from the suffering incident to its consummation. But for nature's ills and discomforts nature provides remedies, and in Mother's Friend is to be found a medicine of great value to every expectant mother. It is an emulsion for external application, composed of ingredients which act with beneficial and soothing effect on those portions of the system involved. It is intended to prepare the system for the crisis, and thus relieve, in great part, the suffering through which the mother usually passes. The regular use of Mother's Friend will repay any mother in the comfort it affords before, and the helpful restoration to health and strength it brings about after baby comes. Mother's Friend is for sale at drug stores. Write for our free book for expectant mothers which contains much valuable information, and many suggestions of a helpful nature.

Both of Carmody's legs were cut off and at a previous trial he obtained a verdict of $30,000 against the railroad. The appellate division reversed the decision and ordered a new trial. No reason was given for Col. Roosevelt being challenged.

Col. Roosevelt was plainly disconcerted when he stepped down from the box. "I am ready to do my duty," he said, "but I don't see why I should have to come here day after day if nobody wants me as a juror. I don't see what the boy (Carmody) was afraid of, for I certainly would have given him a square deal."

Mr. Graham had approached the colonel so quietly that few were aware Roosevelt had been challenged. "You're a busy man, colonel," the lawyer said, "and we will excuse you."

McGUIRE TRYING TO KEEP DOWN TROUBLE

Guthrie, Okla., March 13.—The first delegates arrived last night for the First District Republican Congressional convention here today and the State convention Thursday, and both the Taft and Roosevelt leaders are on the ground, lining up for the two events.

Congressman Bird McGuire has arrived from Washington. The report that he had flopped to Roosevelt is incorrect, although he is advocating party harmony, working to prevent a split in the conventions.

State Chairman Ed Perry, of the Roosevelt forces, with L. G. Dizney, of Muskogee, the Roosevelt candidate for United States senator, and other Teddy leaders are declaring they have sufficient strength to win in both conventions, whereas Chairman Jim Harris, of the Republican State Committee, is still confident of the results as regard Taft and indorsement for his own election as National Committeeman.

Many Rumors of Dissension. There are many rumors of dissension, and the general opinion is that the State convention will go down in history as the stormiest ever assembled in Oklahoma.

Many political leaders are predicting two sets of delegates to Chicago, and such a result will be no surprise.

The Roosevelt leaders are milling for places on their delegation to Chicago, the honors being claimed by Ed Perry, Charlie Hunter, the Rough Rider; L. G. Dizney, George Priestley, the Roosevelt candidate for National Committeeman; J. E. Dyche, of the Roosevelt National Committee, and others. Hunter and Perry are fighting each other, and Perry is also fighting Priestley for National Committeeman, as are also J. E. Dyche and John Hale, of Oklahoma City.

Congressman McGuire will work hard to prevent a split in the Congressional convention tomorrow. The Taft leaders received the following message from William B. McKinley, director of the National Taft bureau: McKinley Sends Cheering Message. "It is the general belief that the administration of President Taft has met with the hearty approval of the American people and that his nomination at the hands of the National Republican convention insures party success this year."

"From all parts of the country comes cheering news of a decided trend toward President Taft in public sentiment. As the accomplishments of his administration are becoming better known, his popularity increases accordingly. He is a conservative, safe and sane leader, and is unqualifiedly entitled to a second term."

"After a most careful and thorough investigation of conditions in every state in the Union we are confident that we will have a large majority of delegates in the convention and that his re-nomination and election are assured."

Pasteurizing Milk.

This morning the News reporter paid a visit to McGuire's ice cream and milk establishment, and for the first time saw a pasteurizer at work. The milk was in a sort of tank in which it was kept in constant motion by a screw propeller, thus giving the air free play. The milk was heated to a temperature of 185, sufficient to destroy all germs and thoroughly purify the milk. After that process the milk is cooled and made ready for use.

Mr. McGuire is also agent for the De Laval cream separator, which is now being advertised in the News. He says that what the country now needs is more silos, cows and cream separators. Many a farmer could greatly improve his condition by devoting more attention to dairying.

The FLYING MERCURY

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I.—The story opens on Long Island near New York City, where Miss Emily Ffrench, a relative of Ethan Ffrench, manufacturer of the celebrated "Mercury" automobile, loses her way. The car has stopped and her cousin Dick Ffrench is too muddled with drink to direct it aright. They meet another car which is run by a professional racer named Lestrangle. The latter fixes up the Ffrench car and directs Miss Ffrench how to proceed homeward, but seeing that her cousin is in no condition to accompany her, forcibly detains Dick Ffrench, for which the young lady is thankful.

CHAPTER II.—Ethan Ffrench has disinherited his son, who has disappeared. He is growing old and tells Emily that she is the only one of the family to whom he can leave his wealth. He informs her plainly that he would like to have her marry Dick, who could carry on the business. Dick is a good-natured, but irresponsible fellow.

CHAPTER III.—It appears that a partner of Ethan Ffrench, wanting an expert to race with the "Mercury" at auto events, has engaged Lestrangle, and at the Ffrench factory Emily encounters the young man. They refer pleasantly to their first meeting when Dick comes along and recognizes the young racer.

CHAPTER IV.—Dick likes the way Lestrangle ignores their first meeting when he appeared to a disadvantage. They become quite friendly and Lestrangle tells Emily that he will try to make something out of her indifferent cousin and educate him as an automobile expert.

CHAPTER V.—Dick undertakes his business schooling under the tutelage of Lestrangle. Dick is sheer grit, and in making a test race meets with an accident. Lestrangle sticks to him bravely, Emily disclaims any intention of marrying her.

CHAPTER VI.—Lestrangle comes upon Emily in the moonlit garden of the Ffrench home. Under an impulse he cannot control, he kisses her and she leaves him, confessing in her own heart that she returns his love.

CHAPTER VII.—The uncle of Emily, learning of her attachment to Lestrangle, informs her that the man is his disbarred son, whom she has never seen before being adopted by him. He claims that his son ran away with a dissolute actress, refuses to acknowledge him, and orders Emily to think of Dick as her future husband.

CHAPTER VIII.—A big race is on in the south and Ethan Ffrench sends Emily to see it. The fame of the "Mercury" is in the success of Lestrangle and Dick running the race.

breathlessly. "It is only that." "You should not have been here at all, my dear. But it is good to see you. Who brought you? Bailey?" catching sight of the man beside Dick. "Good, I wanted some one to help me; Rupert and I have got to find a hotel and we're not very active."

Emily would have slipped away from the clasp, scarlet with returning recollection, but Lestrangle detained her to meet his shining eyes.

"The race is over," he reminded, for her ears alone. "I'm going to keep you, if you'll stay."

He turned to take a limping step, offering his hand cordially to the speechless Bailey, and faced for the first time the other man present.

"I think," said Ethan Ffrench, "that there need be no question of hotels. We have not understood each other, but you have the right to Ffrench-wood's hospitality. If you can travel, we will go there."

"No," answered David Ffrench, as quietly. "Never. You owe me nothing, sir. If I have worked in your factory, I took the workman's wages for it; if I have won honors for your car, I also won the prize-money given to the driver. I never meant so to establish any claim upon Ffrench-wood or you. I believe we stand even. Dick has taken my place, happily; Emily and I will go on our own road." They looked at each other, the likeness between them most apparent, in the similar determination of mood which wiped laughter and warmth from the younger man's face. However coldly phrased and dictatorially spoken, it was an apology which Mr. Ffrench had offered and which had been declined. But—he had watched

"I Am So Happy."

Lestrangle all day; he did not lift the gauntlet.

"You are perfectly free," he conceded, "which gives you the opportunity of being generous."

His son moved, flushing through his pallor.

"I wish you would not put it that way, sir," he objected.

"There is no other way. I have been wrong and I have no control over you; will you come home?"

There was no other argument but that that could have succeeded, and the three who knew Lestrangle knew that could not fail.

"You want me because I am a Ffrench," David rebelled in the final protest. "You have a substitute."

"Perhaps I want you otherwise. And we will not speak in passion; there can be no substitute for you."

"Ffrench and Ffrench," murmured Dick coaxingly. "We can run that factory, Lestrangle!"

"There's more than steering-knuckles needing your eye on them. And you love the place, Mr. David," said Bailey from his corner.

From one to the other David's glance went, to rest on Emily's delicate, earnest face in its setting of yellow-bronze curls. Full and straight her dark eyes answered his, the convent-bred Emily's answer to his pride and old resentment and new reluctance to yield his liberty.

"After all, you were born a Ffrench," she reminded, her soft accents just audible. "If that is your work?"

Very slowly David turned to his father.

"I never learned to do things by halves," he said. "If you want me, sir—"

And Ethan Ffrench understood, and first offered his hand.

Rupert was discovered asleep in a camp-chair outside the tent, a few minutes later, when Dick went in search of him.

"The limousine's waiting," his awakener informed him. "You don't feel bad, do you?"

The mechanician rose cautiously, wincing.

"Well, if every joint in my chassis wasn't sore, I'd feel better," he admitted grimly. "But I'm still running. What did you kiss me awake for, when I need my sleeps?"

"Did you suppose we could get Lestrangle home without you, Jack Rupert?"

"I ain't supposing you could. I'm ready."

The rest of the party were already in the big car, with one exception. "Take a last look, Rupert," bade David, as he stood in the dark paddock. "We're retired; come help me get used to it."

Rupert passed a glance over the deserted track.

"I guess my sentiment-tank has given out," he sweetly acknowledged. "The Mercury factory sounds pretty good to me, Darling. And I guess we can make a joy ride out of living, on any track, if we enter for it."

"I guess we can," laughed David Ffrench. "Get in opposite Emily. We're going home to try."

THE END.

Primary in Massachusetts.

Boston, March 13. — Presidential preference primary on April 30 to select all delegates to the coming National presidential contest are assured by the passage of a primary bill in the Senate Monday in concurrence with the House. Unless some change in sentiment develops the bill will be laid before the governor for approval this week. The bill abolishes conventions for the selection of delegates to National conventions and the 36 Massachusetts delegates will go to Chicago and Baltimore knowing the preference of the voters as to presidential and vice-presidential candidates.

Jim Young was very keen to get off to Guthrie this morning to attend the State Republican convention, and to make sure about it bought an alarm clock. However, he set it an hour late and waked up just in time to hear the train go by.

With both the Aiken and Phillips bills before them the voters of Oklahoma will certainly have a fine opportunity to reduce the number of state schools. There is nothing to hinder a man from voting for both measures, and should both be adopted the number of schools will certainly be trimmed down to a most approved minimum. The Phillips bill, however, could effect real economy, while the Aiken bill is designed to cut out 14 secondary schools in order that the State University may hope to secure the money that now goes for their support.
